

TOKYO

35 A PROPOSAL + SUGGESTED ITINERARY 02

Prepared for Gabe Rozavski & family

A return to Tokyo, with more room to breathe.

The right version of this anniversary trip is not a checklist. It is a well-placed hotel, excellent food at both ends of the spectrum, and a daily rhythm that leaves space to wander—and to reset.

THE PLANNING THESIS

Central, quiet, deeply considered

Choose an established hotel with strong service recovery, a genuinely quiet room position, and easy returns between outings. Build each day around one anchor rather than stacking reservations.

TRIP FRAME

Tokyo · fall · 7 nights

Two adults and one child
Anniversary journey
Some date flexibility
Best-of-everything posture

PACE

Adaptive

One meaningful anchor, then optional layers.

STAY

Established

Center-city consistency, quiet above all.

FOOD

High–low

Michelin precision and excellent neighborhood joints.

Test status: This document demonstrates the combined proposal-itinerary format using CRM profile data and a planning fixture. Dates, availability, room categories, pricing, and reservations have not been live-quoted.

THE DESTINATION CASE

Tokyo rewards curiosity with contrast.

A quiet morning garden can lead to an exacting sushi counter, experimental digital art, a tiny listening bar, and a convenience-store dessert worth remembering. The city feels immense, but becomes intimate when the days are organized by neighborhood.

For this family, the hotel is part of the operating plan—not only a place to sleep. A central base and protected breaks make the city more enjoyable, reduce transit fatigue, and preserve energy for the moments that matter.

“One anchor. One neighborhood. Enough space for the city to surprise you.”

PRIMARY LENS

Food + culture

SECONDARY LENS

Art + design

PROTECTED RHYTHM

Hotel reset

Three credible bases. One recommendation.

HOTEL	WHY IT FITS	WATCHPOINT	STATUS
Aman Tokyo	Serene Otemachi base, dramatic city outlooks, exceptional pool and spa; strongest match for the requested city-view bath moment.	Premium positioning; room location and exact bathing view must be confirmed.	PRIMARY Confirm live
Palace Hotel Tokyo	Established service, Imperial Palace outlook, central access and an easier family rhythm.	Exact room acoustics and corner placement require a request and confirmation.	ALTERNATIVE Confirm live
Bulgari Hotel Tokyo	High-floor city experience connected to Tokyo Station; polished, newer expression of luxury.	Brand atmosphere may feel more fashion-led than residential.	WILDCARD Confirm live

CARTA RECOMMENDATION

Begin with Aman Tokyo.

It best combines central access, quiet sanctuary, a meaningful pool-and-spa reset, and the strongest path to the requested bathtub-over-the-city experience. Palace Hotel is the disciplined comparison if the live value or family-room configuration is materially better.

No hotel, room category, inclusion, or rate is represented as available. This page is ready for live inventory—not ready for purchase.

A city itinerary designed in chapters.

DAY 1

Arrive softly

Private arrival transfer, room settle-in, hotel reset, and a flexible first dinner close to the base.

DAY 2

Old Tokyo, new perspective

Asakusa early, a river or neighborhood transition, then teamLab Borderless as the modern counterpoint.

DAY 3

Design, shopping, wandering

Meiji Shrine, Omotesando architecture, Cat Street, and a protected afternoon hotel break.

DAY 4

Market to table

Market breakfast, hands-on culinary context, Ginza browsing, then the trip's principal sushi dinner.

DAY 5

Art and neighborhood texture

One major museum or private art lens, Daikanyama or Nakameguro, and an unstructured evening.

DAY 6

Choose-your-energy day

Family-led choice: Ghibli, sumo context, Kamakura, or a deliberately empty Tokyo day.

DAY 7

Anniversary crescendo

Slow morning, bath/spa time, final shopping, and a composed celebratory dinner with a night-view finish.

DAY 8

Depart unhurried

Breakfast, final packing buffer, and private transfer timed to the confirmed flight.

Arrival + contrast

01

Day 1 · land without pressure

ARRIVAL

Airport to hotel

Private transfer appropriate to the confirmed gateway and arrival time.

AFTERNOON

Check in + reset

Keep the first hours unscheduled. Confirm a quiet room away from lifts, preferably down the hall or at a corner.

EVENING

First taste of Tokyo

Low-friction dinner near the hotel. No destination restaurant on arrival night.

Day 2 · centuries in one day

EARLY

Asakusa before the crowd

Sensō-ji and surrounding lanes while the neighborhood is still settling into the day.

MIDDAY

Lunch + hotel return

A neighborhood lunch, then a deliberate rest interval back at the hotel.

LATE

teamLab Borderless

An immersive art anchor, followed by dinner chosen for energy level rather than obligation.

WHY THIS WORKS

The itinerary earns its first ambitious experience only after sleep and a reset. It also frames Tokyo's central pleasure immediately: tradition and experimentation coexist without needing to be forced together.

Design + appetite

02

Day 3 · Meiji to Omotesando

MORNING

Meiji Shrine

A calm forest beginning before moving into the city's design corridor.

LUNCH

Harajuku high-low

Choose either a polished reservation or a trusted casual favorite; keep the decision appetite-led.

AFTERNOON

Omotesando + Cat Street

Architecture, fashion, stationery and unstructured discovery. Return to the hotel before dinner.

Day 4 · the food chapter

EARLY

Market breakfast

Use Toyosu or Tsukiji according to the preferred experience and confirmed access.

MIDDAY

Ginza at an easy pace

Department-store food halls, craft, and a practical lunch if needed.

EVENING

Principal sushi dinner

Concierge-assisted reservation with the partner's seafood preferences clearly communicated.

Dining note: the partner prefers seafood primarily when it is sushi. The broader plan should balance sushi with tempura, wagyu, yakitori, noodles, and outstanding casual meals.

Depth + celebration

03

DAY 5

Art + local texture

Select one significant art anchor rather than museum-hopping. Continue through Daikanyama or Nakameguro with time for coffee, books, design shops, and wandering. Leave dinner open until the day reveals its appetite.

DAY 6

Choice day

Decide after the first half of the trip: Ghibli if tickets align; a sumo lens if seasonally relevant; Kamakura for a change of scale; or a deliberately unscheduled day. This is the pressure-release valve.

DAY 7

Anniversary crescendo

Protect the morning. Use the hotel's bath, pool or spa. Finish any meaningful shopping, then dress for one considered celebratory dinner. Add a skyline drink only if it enhances the evening.

The dream request

A bathtub overlooking the city is not treated as decorative copy—it becomes a room-selection requirement to verify directly with the hotel before confirmation.

ROOM REQUEST LANGUAGE

Quiet room, away from lifts and service areas; no connecting door if avoidable; corner placement preferred; elevated unobstructed city view; bath orientation confirmed.

SERVICE RECOVERY

Because a poor first hotel impression can color the trip, confirm arrival notes, inspect room placement early, and solve any issue before unpacking fully.

Reserve the scarce. Leave room for discovery.

MOMENT	PLANNING APPROACH	WHY
Anniversary dinner	One high-confidence reservation with atmosphere, pacing, and non-seafood depth.	The emotional anchor should not depend on a last-minute concierge scramble.
Sushi counter	Reserve one accessible omakase through the hotel or a trusted booking channel.	Honors the food focus while matching the partner's specific comfort with sushi.
Tempura or wagyu	Choose one formal Japanese counter beyond sushi.	Provides range and avoids making seafood the entire dining narrative.
Neighborhood meals	Keep two or three lunches intentionally flexible.	The traveler enjoys deep research and good food regardless of category.
Family ease	Confirm age policies, seating format, duration, and private-room options.	Many fine-dining counters have constraints that must be resolved before booking.

RESERVATION RULE

Two hard bookings per day is too many.

On most days, protect either lunch or dinner as the primary reservation—not both.

RESEARCH HANDOFF

Shortlist, then live-check.

Exact venues will be selected only after dates, child age, hotel, and cancellation terms are confirmed.

What is proposed.

What still needs confirmation.

- ✓

Client preferences mapped from the completed CRM profile.
- ✓

Seven-night Tokyo rhythm built around a central hotel and daily resets.
- ✓

Three hotel candidates framed with a primary recommendation.
- ✓

Dining and room-selection logic personalized to stated preferences.
- Exact fall travel dates and departure gateway.
- Child age and any room-occupancy implications.
- Live air, hotel, room, transfer and cancellation inventory.
- Final activity availability, dining releases and age policies.

AIR

Not quoted

Cabin and gateway to confirm.

HOTEL

Confirm live

No rate or room is held.

EXPERIENCES

Planning fixture

Final schedule follows dates.

No purchase-ready offer is presented. Taxes, fees, airfare, transfers, meals, activities, insurance and cancellation terms remain unquoted unless later stated in a live commercial proposal.

Recommended next step

Confirm the exact fall window, departure airport, and child age. Carta can then price the recommended hotel against the two alternatives and convert this planning fixture into a bookable proposal.

01

Start with Aman Tokyo.

Then test Palace Hotel Tokyo as the value-and-family comparison. Keep Bulgari as the design-led wildcard.

A composed return, not a repeat.

The proposal should feel familiar enough to be easy, but different enough to justify returning: a stronger hotel, a more deliberate food arc, richer design and art, and fewer days overloaded by obligation.

THIS TEST PROVED

A completed Typeform profile can flow through Airtable into a personalized, client-readable document that combines recommendation, itinerary, trade-offs, operational notes, and clear commercial status.

Prepared by Carta

Private planning preview · Generated July 17, 2026
Fixture-based template test · Not a live quote